J02 / JOURNAL PREPARATION

Use a journal template

Bookkeeping / Journal / Post Transaction / Templates or Generate

Start with the event that occurred. A saved layout can be reused with new amounts, dates and evidence.

01 Choose the layout

Select a saved template by name and permanent number, or choose a chart-backed starter. Read the rows before applying it. Use a salary accrual template for wages earned and a settlement template for wages already owed.

02 Replace the changing fields

Enter this event’s date, counterparty, memo, amount, currency-specific accounts and rate evidence. Resolve every unassigned fund, employee or payable. Check the intended debit and credit directions.

03 Review generated lines

Use Generate where applicable. Compare each mapping, offset, bridge and rounding line with its source. If the app offers several matches, choose the one that describes the evidence. Investigate a missing mapping before proceeding.

04 Save or post

Saving a template retains its layout. A draft or generated preview can still be edited. Use the explicit posting action only after review and retain the confirmed journal ID.

Template choice

A supplier invoice already credited Accounts Payable. When the bank transfers the money, select settlement and debit that payable. A second purchase template would duplicate the expense.

Before you finish

A balanced template can still use the wrong accounts. Check the ledger effect as well as the totals.
